SENIOR CONSULTANT

FOR STRATEGY AND FUNDRAISING

The British Initiation Society (BRIS) is the body that trains Mohelim and regulates Bris Milah in the UK to ensure its safe and continued provision. We are a core communal organisation, with a history of continuous service of over 280 years.

We are seeking a highly skilled consultant, able to think strategically, to work alongside the Society's existing leadership, playing a key role in shaping the Society's future by managing and coordinating the Society's various projects, including spearheading education and PR campaigns, ensuring continued progress in its modernisation and development, as well as taking a leading role in high-level fundraising initiatives.

The role will suit an experienced, and highly organised professional with a deep understanding of the dynamics of both the Chareidi and wider Anglo-Jewish communities. A proactive, articulate leader who can drive key initiatives and engage high-level stakeholders. Excellent written & spoken English and strong grasp of Hebrew religious terminology a must.

- Experience in strategic planning and project management (essential)
- Experience advising complex charities on governance/operations (essential)
  - Organisational, IT and communication skills (essential)
- Experience in the outreach and education sectors (preferred)
  - Salary subject to experience
  - Will suit flexible working
  - London based (preferred)
- Applications closing Sunday 11th May 2025
